

Sustainable Tenancy Resources

Muriel Ross Abdurahman Court

Heartland Housing Foundation encourages sustainable tenancies that are affordable to our tenants. Affordability is defined as rent that is no more than 30% of monthly gross (before tax) income. We understand not all applicants will have income at a level that allows for true affordability.

The chart below provides guidelines on what income ranges are considered a higher or lower risk to sustainable tenancies. While there is a maximum eligible income for our near-market apartments, there is no defined minimum income. However, we strongly encourage applicants to consider their financial ability to sustain a successful tenancy based on their monthly income.

When we receive applications that indicate a moderate, high, or very-high-risk tenancy based on the ratio of income to rent, we will connect with those applicants to review income sources, expenses, and available supports. With the applicant, we will establish if tenancy can be sustained based on income and offer resources or referrals to other housing options if necessary.

Situations in which rent is 50% or more of a tenant’s income are considered very high-risk for tenants. Applications indicating a very high-risk tenancy in terms of income to rent ratio will be considered and approved in rare circumstances on a case-by-case basis.

Unit Size	Monthly Rent	Monthly Income
Studio	$667	$1,334 or less	$1,361 - $2,152	$2,223 - $3,899	$3,900
1 Bedroom	$900	$1,800 or less	$1,837 - $2,903	$3,000 - $4,649	$4,650
2 Bedroom	$987	$1,974 or less	$2,014 - $3,184	$3,290 - $5,799	$5,800
3 Bedroom	$1,045	$2,090 or less	$2,133 - $3,371	$3,483 - $6,999	$7,000

High-Risk Tenancy - Rent being 50% or more than monthly gross income

High to Moderate-Risk Tenancy - Rent being 31-49% of monthly gross income

Moderate to Low-Risk Tenancy - Rent being at 30% of income or less

High Income Cutoff - Ineligible for housing (income too high)

Resources

Resources below are available in the community of Fort Saskatchewan through local or provincial providers. This list is not exhaustive but offers resources who can support connections with other resources not listed here (e.g., Alberta Works) and who may be able to provide supports around housing, income, financial planning, and more.

Family & Community Support Services (FCSS)

Various mental health, wellbeing, community and family resources, workshops, and supports.

Phone: 780-992-6267

Web: <https://www.fortsask.ca/en/living-here/family-and-community-services.aspx>

Families First Society

Range of supports for families including education, nutrition, healthy relationships, family violence supports, and more. The Steadfast Connector at Families First provides focused, personalized support with system navigation and accessing community resources.

Phone: 780-998-5595

Web: <https://familiesfirstsociety.ca/>

Rent Assistance Benefit Programs

The government of Alberta has redesigned and improved its Rent Supplement Program to meet the needs of Albertans in these difficult times.

The program includes:

- A long-term benefit for those most in need: Rent Assistance Benefit (RAB)
- A temporary benefit for working Albertans and those between jobs: Temporary Rent Assistance Benefit (TRAB)

These programs are administrated by Heartland Housing Foundation

Phone: 780-400-3511

Website: <https://www.heartlandhousing.ca/rent-assistance-programs>

Every effort is made to ensure this list remains up to date, however Heartland Housing Foundation does not guarantee the information on other sites is accurate or current. Heartland Housing Foundation is not responsible for any special, indirect, incidental, or consequential damage that may arise from linking to these websites or to the service providers listed.